October 11, 2021

Partner Ian Ivory authored an article published on October 6 by Private Equity News discussing “Why do buyout lawyers keep reinventing the wheel on investment docs?” This article discusses why we still don’t have one standard set of equity investment documents that everyone works from as a starting point for most mainstream UK/European private equity deals unlike our finance counterparts who managed this over two decades ago with the introduction of standard documentation approved by the Loan Market Association (LMA).
