COMPANIES FACE THE NEW CHALLENGES OF SUSTAINABLE GOVERNANCE IN FRANCE

Jan 12, 2022

SUMMARY

Opinion article for La Tribune co-authored by BCLP Litigation Partners Elodie Valette and Constantin Achillas

After the provision of the Sapin II Law or the PACTE Law, (the new action plan for business growth and transformation regulation), the Climate and Resilience Law adds to the information that major public companies must include in their extra-financial performance declaration, as well as the care measures that they must detail. The question of the effectiveness of these new CSR instruments is now at the heart of the concerns of shareholders who can influence the general management of a company and have a direct impact on its corporate governance.
