BIOGRAPHY

Mark Brennan has 30 years of experience handling all stages of litigation including discovery, trials, and appeals of consumer products and consumer financial class actions, in addition to product liability and commercial matters. He has an abundance of experience utilizing electronic discovery in a wide variety of litigation scenarios. Mark approaches e-discovery from a pragmatic standpoint and a keen sensitivity to the cost/benefit decisions that must be made at nearly every point in the e-discovery process. He frequently advocates a proactive use of early case data assessment techniques, the Rule 26(f) process, and Rule 26(b)(1) to control discovery costs.
