BIOGRAPHY

Maryne Gouhier focuses her practice on a wide range of matters regarding Energy, Environmental and Public Law.

She assists industrial companies, investors and real estate operators with the development of their projects (from acquiring, permitting and operating to remediating, redeveloping and selling) regarding regulatory and transactional matters, including due diligence for mergers and acquisitions and renewable energy deals.

Maryne also represents companies in court and arbitration.

Prior to joining the firm, Maryne served as a law clerk for the Administrative Court of Melun. She also gained in-house and institutional experience training at a leading automotive company and at the French Ministry of Ecology.

Maryne graduated from University College London (LLM, Environmental & Energy Law), Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne (Master 2, Public Law) and Sciences Po Strasbourg.

Maryne is fluent in English and French.
