BRIMSTED PENS ARTICLE FOR 'HOTEL OWNER' ON DATA SECURITY, COVID-19 AND UK HOTEL SECTOR

Oct 09, 2020

London Partner and UK Head of Data Privacy & Cyber Security Kate Brimsted wrote an article for Hotel Owner, first published Sept. 18, on how COVID-19 has led, inevitably, to increased data security risks for the UK hospitality industry. "To paraphrase a popular quote, there are only two types of organisations: those which know they have had a security breach and those which don't realise it yet," she wrote. "The hotel sector is no exception and therefore with cyber attacks on the rise, as with regulatory fines, what should management teams be doing to fortify their data protection governance?"
