For a number of years, BCLP has represented a range of clients throughout the Pacific Northwest, handling large, complex litigation matters. With the region growing into a significant litigation hub, BCLP's Seattle office was established in 2023 to defend clients in product liability, personal injury, toxic torts, environmental, and general commercial litigation matters. As a dynamic business center for many of the world's top brands, Seattle is a natural fit for BCLP's extensive litigation experience in state and federal courts, including class actions and mass torts.
