International law firm BCLP has again been recognized by the Legal 500 in Germany. This year the firm was listed among leading firms not only in real estate law, but also in real estate finance and restructuring. In addition, several partners were recognized in the latest Legal 500 ranking.

The recognition includes a remarkable placement in real estate law, as well as naming Frankfurt partner Christian Lonquich as one of the leading names in this area of law.

In the area of real estate finance, BCLP is acknowledged for its experience, with Frankfurt partner Frank Schwem named as a leading figure. BCLP's first-time inclusion in the restructuring ranking underscores the firm's growing presence and commitment in a legal area that is increasingly gaining importance.

BCLP Office Managing Partner Germany, Carsten Bremer commented on the rankings: "The recognition in the Legal 500 rankings is a confirmation of the hard work and commitment of our entire team. I am particularly pleased about the first-time ranking of the restructuring team led by my partner colleagues Mike Danielewsky and Till Buschmann. We are proud to deliver top performance in various areas of law and to successfully support our clients. Personally, I am proud that both my long-standing colleague and our Counsel Dr. Kirsten Wöhrn and my current Associate Kathinka Kamrau were mentioned in an extremely positive light."

Tina Siebenhaar, Head of the Real Estate Practice at BCLP Germany, commented on the rankings: "We are delighted with our placements in the Legal 500 rankings and see this as confirmation of our leading position in the areas of real estate law and real estate finance. We are particularly proud that our partner colleagues Christian Lonquich and Frank Schwem are highlighted as leading names in their respective areas of law.
