Oct 01, 2025

International law firm BCLP today announced that George Evans has joined the firm as a partner in its Real Estate Practice, based in New York.

George is a seasoned commercial real estate attorney who represents owners, operators, developers, investors, borrowers and lenders in complex transactions. His practice spans joint ventures, preferred equity, private equity investments and secured borrowing through mortgage and mezzanine loans. George also brings deep experience in “dirt” real estate matters, including acquisitions, ground-up development, commercial condominiums, ground leases and site development agreements.

“George’s arrival strengthens our real estate capabilities and reflects our commitment to expanding our transactional depth in key markets,” said Andy Auerbach, Partner and Regional Leader - Global Real Estate. “His sophisticated deal experience and strategic insight into navigating today’s dynamic real estate markets make him a valuable asset to our clients and our team.”

George’s previous experience includes working to assist clients with structuring and capitalizing their real estate projects and ventures, whether through construction loans, joint ventures, preferred equity or other private equity investments, and through secured borrowing via mortgage or mezzanine loans. His practice is not only in the New York area, but spans the continental US, responding to client demands. Beyond the New York area, George has also led deals in Massachusetts, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Texas, Colorado and California.

“Joining BCLP offers an exciting opportunity to collaborate with a global team and continue delivering innovative solutions to clients navigating today’s dynamic real estate landscape,” he said.
