BIOGRAPHY

Christopher Young is a transactional associate in the Employee Benefits and Executive Compensation Practice Group. He brings a dynamic and diverse background to his legal practice. Before attending law school, he earned a degree in Theatre Performance, which helped develop his creativity and strong interpersonal skills. During law school, Christopher was a Thomas More scholar, served as an academic tutor, and contributed to the Loyola University Chicago Law Journal as the Executive Editor of Publication and board member, demonstrating his commitment to leadership and scholarship. He also worked at Loyola's Civitas Child Law Clinic, supporting attorneys serving as Guardian Ad Litem and Child Representative for the State of Illinois. Today, he leverages these skills to provide thoughtful, client-focused representation.
