BCLP EXPANDS CORPORATE PRACTICE IN LONDON WITH NEW PARTNER HIRE

Aug 04, 2026

BCLP announced today that Sian Williams has joined the Corporate Transaction practice in London as a Partner.

Bringing more than 15 years of experience, Sian advises clients on high-value and complex cross-border corporate transactions and is widely recognized for her ability to guide clients through transformative deals, offering commercially grounded advice across the full corporate lifecycle.

Sian has acted for corporates, private equity sponsors, financial institutions, investee companies and founders on a broad range of strategic matters, including mergers and acquisitions, public takeovers, joint ventures and other significant corporate initiatives. Her practice spans multiple industries, with particular focus in the energy, oil and gas, technology, real estate and life sciences sectors. She joins BCLP from Baker Botts.

“I am thrilled to welcome Sian to the firm” said Carol Osborne, BCLP Global Department Leader, Corporate and Finance Transactions. “Combined with her commercial approach and broad transactional experience, she will enhance our capabilities across private equity and mid-market M&A, where we are seeing increasing client demand globally. Additionally, Sian’s arrival further strengthens our Energy Transition sector offering, a key growth sector for our firm.”

Sian is the second partner to join the Corporate and Finance Transactions Department in London over the past month, following Jérémie Bismuth who joined the Finance Transactions practice.

“I am excited to be joining BCLP”, said Sian. “The firm’s international platform, strong M&A capabilities, collaborative culture and commitment to excellence create an exceptional environment for supporting clients on their most important transactions. I look forward to contributing to the continued growth of the corporate practice and working alongside such a talented team.”
