BCLP APPOINTS IAN WEISKOPF AS NEW OFFICE MANAGING PARTNER IN NEW YORK

Oct 01, 2026

International law firm BCLP has appointed Real Estate Partner Ian Weiskopf as the new Office Managing Partner (OMP) of its New York office. Ian succeeds Steve Stimell, who will continue his practice with the firm.

Ian joined BCLP in 2005 initially as a corporate associate and has spent more than two decades contributing to the firm's growth and culture. Throughout his tenure, he has held numerous leadership positions across the firm, including serving on the Board, Compensation Committee, and Audit and Risk Committee. He has also held a leadership position within the firm's Commercial Real Estate practice and overseen firmwide associate development initiatives. Ian has built a highly regarded real estate private equity practice and is known for his collaborative approach to client service, talent development and business growth.

"I'm honored to take on this role and continue the positive momentum our office has seen recently, specifically on our stellar client work in New York and beyond and the addition of some really talented laterals in the last year," Ian said. "New York is one of the world's most competitive and dynamic legal markets, and BCLP has a tremendous foundation here, I'm excited to build upon it."

As one of the firm's strategic growth markets, BCLP's New York office serves clients across a broad range of practices, including real estate, finance, litigation, corporate and other key areas. Under Ian's leadership, the office will continue to focus on attracting and developing top talent, supporting client growth and enhancing BCLP's profile in the New York market.

"Ian has been an integral part of BCLP for more than 20 years and has consistently demonstrated exceptional leadership, sound judgment and an unwavering commitment to the success of both our clients and our people," said BCLP Chief Executive Officer Steve Baumer. "His extensive experience across the firm, combined with his collaborative leadership style and deep understanding of the New York market, made him the ideal choice to lead our New York office. We are excited to see the office continue to grow and thrive under his leadership."

Steve continued, "Ian builds on the strong foundation established by Steve Stimell over the past decade. Steve's commitment to the success of both the office and the firm has left an enduring mark that will continue to benefit our people, clients, and business for years to come.”

Ian's appointment comes at a time of strong momentum for both the firm and its New York office. Building on recent firmwide growth and continued investment in strategic markets, Ian will work closely with firm leadership to strengthen the office's market presence, support cross-office collaboration and ensure New York remains a destination for top legal talent and sophisticated client work.
