Biography

Andrea Miller is a member of BCLP's Tax Advice & Controversy group. Her practice encompasses a broad range of tax matters including those involving corporations, partnerships, S-corporations, nonprofit organizations, and other entities. Andrea's practice focuses on the federal and state tax aspects of mergers and acquisitions, spin-offs, restructurings, and other corporate transactions. She also has experience assisting nonprofit organizations with formation, tax-exempt status, and other tax matters. Her academic background in law, taxation, and accountancy provides a multidisciplinary foundation for evaluating tax issues within the broader context of business transactions and organizational objectives.

Andrea earned her J.D. and LL.M. in Taxation from Washington University School of Law, and her M.S. in Accountancy from Saint Louis University. During law school, she participated in the advanced Low Income Taxpayer Clinic, served as the student body Treasurer overseeing the law
